Iconography Dedication Program for St. John the Baptist

As the walls of our New Church go up it is time now to begin their adornment with the traditional Orthodox iconography that will fill our liturgical space with theological meaning.

This dedication program will give everyone a chance to participate in this great work, taking into account their financial possibilities and their personal commitment to the memory of their beloved.

Join us today in our effort to worship God in our New Church to the fullest extent of our Holy Orthodox Tradition.

Why we need icons?

The icons are a necessary expression of the world's sacredness. "Standing inside the Church, we think that we are in heaven," as one hymn states, because the Church is the embodiment and sanctification of the whole world, while the created world is called to become the Church. The icons break down the wall of separation between the sacred and the profane, between this world and the next, between earth and heaven.
